

The American Nation
National Identity
Nationalism

edited by

Knud Krakau

---

LIT

Contents

Nation - National Identity - Nationalism: An Introduction.....	7
Knud Krakau
I. Europe and America Compared.....	17
The Origins and Nature of American Nationalism in Comparative Perspective .....	19
Liah Greenfeld
II. Colonial Identity.....	53
1. The 'Principal End of the Plantation': The Praying Indian and the Politics of a New England Colonial Identity, 1630-1700.....	55
Ralph Bauer
2. Puritan Piety, "liberties and franchises of Englishmen," and "peaceable kingdoms": English early modern foundations of the American body politic.....	83
Robert von Friedeburg
III. National Identity in a Period of Socio-Political Change around 1900...121
1. A Government of Laws or A Government of the People? Direct Democracy and American Political Culture, 1890-1920.....	123
Thomas Goebel
2. Falling Back Into History: Conflicting Visions of National Decline and Destruction in the Imperialism Debate around the Turn of the Century.....	149
Fabian Hilfrich
IV. Immigration and Americanization.....	167
1. Making Americans: Conceptions of the Ideal American in Campaigns to Americanize New Immigrants in Early 20th Century.....	169
Dietrich Herrmann
2. "...very much an American life:" The Concept of "citizenship" in the Civilian Conservation Corps, 1933-1942.....	185
Olaf Stieglitz
3. The American Debate about Immigration in the 1990s: A New Nationalism After the End of the Cold War?.....	197
Herbert Dittgen
V. African Americans and American Nationalism.....	233
1. Black Power: The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Resurgence of Black Nationalism during the 1960s.....	235
Manfred Berg
2. Black Separatism as an Alternative to the Goal of Racial Integration: A Comparison of the Nation of Islam and the Black Power Movement of the 1960s.....	263
Britta Waldschmidt-Nelson

VI. Projections Abroad .....	283
1. Democratization and Hegemonic Control: American Propaganda and the West German Public's Foreign Policy Orientation, 1949-1955.....	285
Frank Schumacher
2. Enemies Abroad: The Vietnam War and the China Equation.....	317
Robert Garson
3. The American National Identity and U.S. Foreign Policy.....	333
Tony Smith
Notes on Contributors .....	345

Notes on Contributors

Ralph Bauer, received his Ph.D. (1997) and his M.A. (1993) in American Studies from the Michigan State University; Assistant Professor at the Department of English, Yale University; he published several articles on early Anglo- and American Literature in American and German scholarly journals. His Ph.D. thesis was Comparative Colonial Identities and the Ethnographic Imagination in Early British and Spanish American Literature (1997).

Manfred Berg, received his Ph.D. from the University of Heidelberg. Between 1989 and 1992 he taught American history at the John F. Kennedy-Institute for North American Studies of the Free University of Berlin. Since 1992 he has been a research fellow at the German Historical Institute in Washington DC. Numerous publications on German and American history. His forthcoming new book is entitled: "The Ticket to Freedom": The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Struggle for African-American Voting Rights, 1910-1970.

Herbert Dittgen, received his Ph.D. from the University of Freiburg (1988), Privatdozent at the University of Göttingen. He currently holds a Heisenberg Fellowship and is Senior Associate Member at St. Antony's College Oxford. Previous positions at the University of California, San Diego, at the Center for International Affairs, Harvard University, and as guest scholar at the Brookings Institution and the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. His publications include The American Impasse: U.S. Domestic and Foreign Policy after the Cold war (1996; ed. with Michael Minkenberg); Deutsch-amerikanische Sicherheitsbeziehungen in der Ära Helmut Schmidt und Außenpolitik in der amerikanischen Demokratie (1997).

Robert von Friedeburg, received his Ph.D. from the University of Bielefeld (1989); Visiting Fellow at Harvard University; Habilitation 1994; Heisenberg Fellow since 1996; guest professor, Humboldt University, Berlin; currently Cameron Fellow at St. Andrews University, Scotland; Publications: Sündenzucht und sozialer Wandel (1993); Ländliche Gesellschaft und Obrigkeit (1997), numerous essays on religious and social history of England, the United States and Germany published in English, American and German journals.

Robert Garson, head of the Department of American Studies and Director of the David Bruce Centre for American Studies, Keele University. He is the author (with C.J. Bailey) of The Democratic Party and the Politics of Sectionalism, 1941-1948 (1974), The Uncertain Power: A Political History of the United States Since 1929 (1990) and The United States and China: A Troubled Affair (1994). He is currently doing research on the administration of Lyndon B. Johnson.

Thomas Goebel, research fellow at the German Historical Institute, Washington DC.; M.A., Johns Hopkins University (1987), Ph.D., University of Chicago, 1993. Major publications: The Children of Athena: Chicago Professionals and the Creation of a New Social Order, 1870-1920; articles in American and German learned periodicals. Major areas of research: modern American political and social history, comparative history of the United States and Germany.

Liah Greenfeld, is a University Professor and Professor of Political Science and Sociology at Boston University. Her numerous publications on the subject of nationalism include the critically acclaimed Nationalism: Five Roads to Modernity (1992). The subject of Prof. Greenfeld's current research is economic implications of nationalism.

Dietrich Herrmann, received his Ph.D. in Modern History in 1994 from the Free University of Berlin; since 1994 he has been research fellow at the Political Science Department of the Technical University of Dresden. His publications include "Be an American!": Amerikanisierungsbewegung und Theorie zur Einwanderungsintegration (1996), and articles on immigration history and policy of the United States.

Fabian Hilfrich, Member of the Graduiertenkolleg "Democracy in the United States" at the John-F.-Kennedy-Institute, Freie Universität Berlin. Paper presentations at the European Association of American Studies, the Organization of American Historians and the German Association of American Studies. Dissertation with the working title 'Nation' and 'Democracy: A Comparison between the American Imperialism Debate (1898-1900) and the Debate on the Vietnam War (1964-1968), forthcoming.

Knud Krakau, with degrees in international law, political science, and public administration from Hamburg and Harvard Universities, teaches North American History at the John F. Kennedy-Institut für Amerikastudien, Freie Universität Berlin. He has published seven books and many articles, reviews etc. in European and American scholarly journals, among them Missionsbewußtsein und Völkerrechtsdoktrin in den Vereinigten Staaten von Amerika (1968). Current research focuses on early American foreign relations.

Frank Schumacher, Ph.D. candidate at the Anglo-American History Institute, University of Cologne, M.A. 1990, M.A., M.S.S. 1993, has completed his dissertation Kalter Krieg und Propaganda: die USA, der Kampf um die Weltmeinung und die ideelle Westintegration der Bundesrepublik Deutschland, 1945-1955 under the direction of Jürgen Heideking.

Tony Smith, is chairman of the political science department and Cornelia Jackson Professor at Tufts University. He has published five books and numerous articles in comparative politics and international relations, among them: America's Mission: The United States and the Worldwide Struggle for Democracy in the Twentieth Century (1994). At present he is working on the role of ethnic groups in the making of U.S. foreign policy, and the impact of world affairs on U.S. multiculturalism.

Olaf Stieglitz, is a Wissenschaftlicher Mitarbeiter (assistant lecturer) at the History Department of Hamburg University and just finished his dissertation titled "100 Percent American Boys": Disziplinierungsdiskurse und Ideologie im Civilian Conservation Corps, 1933-1942.

Britta Waldschmidt-Nelson, is an Assistant Professor at the University of Munich's Amerika-Institut. Her research has focused on African-American studies. She worked at the Joint Center for Political and Economic Studies in Washington D.C., which published two of her articles on the political work of black women. In 1996 she completed her dissertation, From Protest to Politics: Black Women in the Civil Rights Movement and in the United States Congress, and received her Ph.D. in American Cultural History from the University of Munich in 1997.