

THE GERMAN HISTORICAL INSTITUTE CORDIALLY INVITES YOU TO THE

HELMUT SCHMIDT PRIZE LECTURE

Austerity: Views of Chancellor Brüning's and President Hoover's Fiscal Policies from across the Atlantic, 1930-32

CARL-LUDWIG HOLTFRERICH (FREIE UNIVERSITÄT BERLIN)

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10, 2015

6:00 - 8:00 PM

THE GERMAN HISTORICAL INSTITUTE
1607 NEW HAMPSHIRE AVE NW
WASHINGTON DC 20009

ZEIT-Stiftung

Ebelin und Gerd
Bucerius

GERMAN HISTORICAL INSTITUTE
WASHINGTON DC

Historian Carl-Ludwig Holtfrerich is renowned for his expertise on the German and American economies in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. He is Professor Emeritus of the Freie Universität Berlin, where he taught economics and economic history. Holtfrerich is particularly well-known for his research on monetary and financial history and has authored many influential books on this topic, including a history of inflation in Germany during the Weimar period (1980), a history of the German Mark (2001, with Harold James and Manfred Pohl), and a contribution to the debate on reforming the German labor market (2007). In 1995, his book The Deutsche Bank: 1870-1995, which he co-authored with Hans Büschgen, Gerald Feldman, Lothar Gall, and Harold James, won the Financial Times/Booz-Allen & Hamilton Global Business Book Award.

RSVP (ACCEPTANCES ONLY) BY DEC 3
TEL 202-387-3355 FAX 202-387-6437
EMAIL EVENTS@GHI-DC.ORG

PROGRAM

- 6:00 PM LECTURE AND AWARD CEREMONY
Laudation by Volker Berghahn (Columbia University)
- 7:30 PM RECEPTION

The Helmut Schmidt Prize is generously sponsored by the ZEIT-Stiftung Ebelin und Gerd Bucerius.

PHOTO CREDIT: Photo collage of U.S. reparations agent S. Parker Gilbert with headlines from German newspapers highlighting the difficult financial situation in Germany following his report that the German reparations payments were economically sustainable, January 1929. Courtesy of the Bundesarchiv, 102-10973.