

GLOBAL HISTORY

The Berlin International Student Conference

24-25.04.2015

We invite students of history, area studies and related disciplines to take part in the first Global History Student Conference/GHSC in Berlin. At the GHSC you will have the chance to present and discuss any finished essays or current projects related to global history – arguably one of the most ambitious and promising approaches in historical research. The GHSC is organized by students for students and will allow you to share ideas and experiences in a constructive, non-competitive atmosphere.

In addition to the participants' papers and presentations, renowned scholars of the field will give short inputs. The GHSC will take place 24-25 April at re:work International Research Center Berlin. Participants coming from outside of Berlin will receive financial assistance to cover travel and accommodation expenses.
