

Freie Universität  Berlin

John F. Kennedy Institute for North American Studies

MANCHESTER
1824
The University of Manchester

Workshop, Governing Environmental Change: Science Diplomacy and the Global Politics of Knowledge since the 19th Century, Berlin, Nov. 16 – 17, 2018

Friday, November 16, 2018

09:00 – 9:15 Welcome

- Nadin Heé (FU Berlin), Mariko Jacoby (Max Planck Institute for the History of Science, Berlin), Sönke Kunkel (John F. Kennedy-Institute/FU Berlin), Simone Turchetti (University of Manchester)

09:15 – 10:45 Managing Natural Resources

- Jessica Wang (University of British Columbia, Vancouver): Insects, Entomologists, and Parasites on the Move: The Mediterranean Fruit Fly, Biological Pest Control, and the Global Dimensions of Agricultural Governance in Early Twentieth-Century Hawai'i
- Nadin Heé (FU Berlin): Migrant Species, Knowledge, and Workers. Tuna as Global Commons and Science Diplomacy
- Martin Kalb (Bridgewater College): Scientific Diplomacy, Global Politics of Knowledge, and the Invention of Wildlife Conservation in German Southwest Africa

10:45 – 11:15 Break

11:15 – 12:45 Managing International Environmental Law

- Omer Aloni (Tel-Aviv University Law Faculty/Rachel Carson Center for Environment and Society): Governing Environmental Change: Science Diplomacy and the Environmental Regime of the League of Nations – 1919-1939
- Rachel Rothschild (New York University): The International Environmental Parade: Science and the Struggle between the United Nations and the OECD for Global Governance
- Sam Robinson (University of York): Anticipation on the Ocean Frontier: Negotiating the Law of the Sea in the context of future science and technology (1968-84)

12:45 – 14:15 Lunch

14:15 – 15:15 Managing Natural Disasters

- Mariko Jacoby (Max Planck Institute for the History of Science, Berlin): Learning from the Earthquake Nation: Japanese Seismology and Science Diplomacy in the first half of the 20th Century
- Sönke Kunkel (FU Berlin): Towards the UN Decade for International Disaster Reduction: International Organizations and Global Science Diplomacy, 1960s to 1980s

15:15 – 15:45 Break

15:45 – 17:15 Managing Environmental Risks

- Lucas Mueller (MIT, Cambridge, MA): Risk on the Negotiation Table: Toxicity, Malnutrition, and Postcolonial Development, 1963 – 1983
- Matthew Adamson (McDaniel College, Budapest, Hungary): The Grounds for a Reactor, a Reactor for the Grounds. The Kingdom of Morocco's Efforts to Secure a Nuclear Geoscientific Capacity, 1976-2006

18:00 Dinner Harnack-Haus

Saturday, November 17, 2018

09:00 – 10:30 Managing Diplomatic Realignments

- Adam C. Hill (University of Connecticut): "The Battle for Abu Simbel": Archaeology and Postcolonial Diplomacy in the UNESCO Campaign for Nubia
- Pete Millwood (London School of Economics): An "Exceedingly Delicate and Extraordinarily Difficult Undertaking": Sino-American Diplomacy and China's Reintegration into Globalised Science, 1966–1978

10:30 – 11:00 Break

11:00 – 12:30 Managing Climate Change

- Simone Turchetti (University of Manchester): Global Warming or Nuclear Winter? NATO's early initiatives on climate change research and their diplomacy dimensions
- Katja Doose (University of Birmingham): Climate change research during the Cold War – a global problem for a divided world. Environmental Science diplomacy between East and West, 1972-1991

12:30 – 13:15 Wrap-Up, Ongoing Projects, and General Discussion

13:15 Lunch

VENUE: Harnack-Haus, Conference Venue of the Max-Planck-Society, Room Mozart, Ihnestr. 16-20, 14 195 Berlin